

THE Gleichen Call

Tenth Year, No. 5

GLEICHEN, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, APRIL 20, 1916

Council Fixes Tax Rate at 33 Mills Assessment $330,796

The meeting of the Town Council to be held on the 11th inst. was postponed until last Friday owing to the demise of the wife of Alderman Gaudaur, at which only a motion was passed containing an order that a resolution of condolence and sympathy be placed upon the records and letter be sent to the bereaved councillor.

The meet Friday evening opened at 8.35 with Mayor Farquharson in the chair and there was present Councillors Hogg, Finnigan, Henderson and Wallace.

The minutes of the previous meeting were duly adopted as read.

After considerable discussion Alders Henderson and Hogg carried a motion adopting the town assessment for 1916 as amended and certified, amounting to $330,796.

Then a lengthy discussion was indulged in concerning the assessment and the amount necessary to be raised to carry on the business of the town for the year, in which all took a part with the result "That By-law No. 65, a by-law to levy and collect a mill rate of 33 mills" was read first, second and third time and duly passed, all the councillors present taking turns in the process of moving and seconding important by-law.

Alders Hogg and Henderson then successfully moved "That the proportion of the rate for school purposes, as submitted in demand by the school trustees, be seven mills."

"And the same gentlemen carried "That a rebate of 10 per cent be given until May 31st and 5 per cent until June 30th on all current taxes paid."

Much time was spent in discussion regarding the building of new sidewalks and it was finally decided to call for separate tenders for lumber and labor, and to post notices so soon as exact routes are known.

The following accounts having been sanctioned by the finance committee they were passed on motion of Alders Henderson and Wallace.

Chief Jack McDowell asked the Council to assist the Fire Brigade by completing a couple of rooms in the town hall that some of the members might sleep there. It was explained an estimate had been obtained for completing the hall at $990, which was quite impossible to meet at present. However, it was decided to order a few articles the chief asked to be supplied.

Quite a few more names have been added to Gleichen's Roll of Honor this week. If you know of others send their names to the CALL office and give honor where honor belongs.

Milo Munroe was in town Monday and said he had just finished seeding 200 acres that day. "Not so bad, seeing that I had 61½ bushels to the acre last year," remarked Mr. Munroe. He is now erecting one of the largest and best finished barns this side of Calgary.

Baseball Club Organized

A baseball meeting to organize for the coming season was held in Town Hall on Wednesday night of last week when between twenty and thirty enthusiastic fans were present.

President Mallory occupied the chair and after explaining the purpose for which the meeting was held he called upon Sec. Treas. H. E. Brown for the financial statement for 1915, which was adopted as read, the report showing $13 on hand from last year. The election of officers for 1916 was then proceeded with, which resulted as follows: President and Manager C. L. Farrow, Vice-President J. A. MacDonald, Sec. Treas. C. R. Solberg. The other members of the executive committee are Messrs. F. L. Mallory and R. R. Gilbert.

It was decided on account of so many calls being made on the people for patriotic and other causes not to take up any subscription list this spring. The secretary was instructed to write Bassano with the view of forming a league. A number of new men will evidently be on the line-up this year and no doubt Gleichen will have a baseball team that she will be proud of.

Accidently Knocked Down by an Auto

While crossing Crowfoot Street, Saturday, H. J. Brown of Standard was accidently knocked down by an auto driven by H. Simonin and had his shoulder dislocated, which was attended to by Dr. Farquharson and he is doing nicely at Mrs. Little's hospital. As is frequently the case Mr. Brown seeing the auto got frightened and dodged first one way and then the other while the driver was obliged to do the same. However, Mr. Simonin is doing more than many drivers will offer to do and is paying the doctor's and hospital accounts.

It is strange the notions a man sometimes gets when dazed from an accident. When Mr. Brown reached the doctor's office he had Constable Taylor count his wad of more than $200 and then the doctor but refused to take chloroform until he saw a preacher. None being available Mr. Gordon was brought in and without questioning him he asked him to count his money then he took the chloroform. Afterwards he handed Mr. Gordon $10, who hesitated and then took it to Mr. Hyndman, treasurer of the Methodist church. The doctor and the constable are now wearing a smile and wondering how it is Mr. Gordon looks so very honest.

Geo. R. Matthews, of the firm of Matthews & Kidney, has moved his wife and family to Gleichen and will reside here permanently.

803,224 BU. GRAIN RECEIVED

The eight hundred thousand mark has been passed for receipts by the Gleichen elevators and as seeding is now in full swing only 16,826 bushels have been taken in during the past two weeks, but it is certain the million mark will be reached even before seeding is over; then look for the elevators to be busy. And they will be ready for the rush.

During the two weeks 10,626 bushels of wheat have been taken in and 6,200 of oats, making the season's total 803,224 bushels. The number of cars shipped during the same period was nineteen from here and one from Stobart, making a total of 473 from here and 33 from Stobart.

Gleichen Red Cross

Owing to the following off in the finances of the Red Cross Society the committee intend to make a personal canvass among the farmers of the surrounding district. Farm produce will be welcome if the farmers cannot see their way to make a monetary contribution.

So far the burden has been borne by a very few who have devoted a very considerable amount of time and labor in this most necessary work. The ladies are only too glad to give their time preparing the needed articles, but it is even more important to have the funds to purchase with.

All town ladies who have not yet taken out work are invited to call at the Red Cross rooms and take out work to be done at home. The committee would also like as many as possible to attend at the rooms on the afternoons devoted to work and give their assistance.

A shipment of work is going forward next week and all finished work should be returned without delay so as to be included.

Miss and Mr. B. Tudhope have arrived from Calgary and with their father and brother are residing on Seventh avenue.

J. M. Telford purchased a fine young Shorthorn bull at the Calgary Stock Sale that tipped the scales at 1040 pounds.

An informal meeting of the Gleichen Stampede committee was held last Saturday night when it was decided to call a meeting for next Saturday evening to decide upon the stampede for this year. Those present were in favor of going on with it this year, and adding several new features.

By all indications the Gleichen Creamery is to soon be opened under new management. A plentiful supply of ice has been stored and while it may take a little time to restore confidence, with a good butter maker and capable management, it should not only be made pay dividends, but be a boon to the town and district. All will join in wishing the new management every success.

Editor H. E. Cummer of the Munson Times spent a few days in town the past week and made the CALL a pleasant visit. He is now wearing the King's uniform at Calgary and describes the soldier's life as far ahead of the printer's. May he return with a few Hun scalps.

Miss Molly Campbell of Gleichen is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Wyndham, at Okotoks Review.

A. H. Goodwin, formerly C.P.R. night operator at Gleichen, has enlisted with the 175th at Medicine Hat.

IN MEMORIAM

Died at her home in Gleichen on Monday afternoon, April 10th, 1916 Mrs. C. J. Gaudaur, age 24 years, 9 months and 22 days.

In the death of Mrs. Gaudaur we fully and keenly realize a great loss. She was a true friend and her devotion to her husband, child, relatives and all she loved would make a bright chapter in any life. Nothing but the thought of the loving hand that has removed her can reconcile us to her absence. While she has gone from the scenes, the conflicts, the sorrows and the pleasures of life, she will still live in the hearts of those who knew her best. Her retiring nature led her to hide her best qualities from public gaze, but they were revealed to those who enjoyed her acquaintance, yet it was in her home that her true worth was conspicuous. She was a kind and loving mother and wife and her devotion to her family circle had no limit. Her future was of promise, and we dare not ask why she was taken from us in her prime, unless, as flowers are picked before frost finds them that we may not see their decay. It is sad indeed, to see one who appeared so well equipped for life taken so unexpectedly, yet for her there was no standing on the borderland gazing into the unknown, for death came as the sunset dies, along the hills when the day is over. A life that imparts such lessons is well worth living.

The subject of this brief sketch was quite ill last fall, but seemed to be recovering nicely although still weak. The Sunday previous with her little girl, husband and Mr. and Mrs. Farrow she took a long auto ride, and while tired that night was quite cheerful. Monday morning she was not very well and Mr. Gaudaur called Dr. Rose, who found she had an attack of pneumonia. She soon became unconscious and before the doctor left passed quietly away, evidently without pain.

Her father, mother, two sisters, a brother and brother-in-law arrived Tuesday night and with the husband there never seemed a more grief-stricken gathering as they looked upon the remains of the loved one, who all admit was the most beautiful woman in these parts.

The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon from her home on Seventh Avenue, the remains being taken to St. Victor's church, where Rev. Father Simonin conducted a short service, after which a long procession followed the casket to the cemetery where the last sad rites were performed.

The pall bearers were Messrs. McIntyre, Mallory, Gibson, Hall, Yates and Solberg.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes were:
Broken wheel—Husband.

Mining in B. C. is Now Being Revived

O. T. Bibb, president and manager of the Multiplex Mining and Power Co., Ltd., of Revelstoke, B. C., has spent the past week in town in the interests of his company and is generally reviving interest in mining in British Columbia, which is Alberta's natural ranch for a great deal of its farm and ranch products. Mr. Bibb says the mines of that province are producing thirty million dollars annually and some of them declaring good dividends, but believes this is only the starting point. He states that mining in B. C. is carried on on the most conservative basis as the people there remember too well the days of the boom and the "wild-cats". So do all Alberta old-timers, many to their sorrow. Yet few, if any, who have studied the B. C. mining situation doubt the existence of great mineral wealth there, nor do they doubt that under skillful management great profits will be obtained. Zinc has been a great detriment to the mining of silver and lead mining across the Rockies but now arrangements have been made for a zinc smelter at Trail and negotiations are under way for another at Medicine Hat or at Redcliff. These are to cost a million dollars each.

Gleichen Cemetery to be Improved

The unkempt appearance of the Gleichen cemetery has long been been criticized by the people visiting it. Various times the matter has been discussed and several improvements made, but now it seems something worth while is to be done.

Last week a delegation of ladies paid the CALL a visit and asked that we announce a day to burn off the grass. But instead we brought the matter before the council last week, when it was discussed at some length and it was learned that there were over $80 in the cemetery fund. Since then several citizens visited the cemetery and made a report on it. It was found the grass was too thick to burn without a fireguard and now it has practically been decided to run a guard around it before burning the grass, and later set out some trees. Already Secretary MacLean has sent in an order for 200 good-sized trees and in a short time our silent city should be a very pleasant looking place. Nearly everyone spoken to have cheerfully offered to assist in the matter.

WITHIN THE LAW

With instant obedience the man went to his station by the hall door. "Red," Garson ordered, "you get to that door." He pointed to the one that gave on the passageway against which he had set the chair tilted. As the man obeyed Garson gave further instructions.

"If any one comes in that way get him and get him quick. You understand? Don't let him cry out or make a sound."

Chicago Red held up his huge hand, widely open.

"Not a chance," he declared proudly, "with that over his mug."

"Now, let's get to work," Garson continued eagerly.

Mary spoke with the bitterness of defeat.

"Listen, Joe! If you do this, I'm through with you, I quit."

"If this goes through," he countered, "we'll all quit. That's why I'm doing it. I'm sick of the game."

CHAPTER XIV. The Noiseless Death

Red suddenly made a slight hissing noise that arrested the attention of the others and held them in motionless silence.

"I hear some thing," he whispered. He went to the keyhole of the door leading into the passage. Then he whispered again, "and it's coming this way."

At the words Garson snapped his fingers. The room was plunged in darkness.

There was absolute silence in the library after the turning of the switch that brought darkness. Long seconds passed, then a little noise—the knob of the passage door turning. As the door swung open there came a gasping breath from Mary, for she saw framed in the faint light that came from the single burner in the corridor the slender form of her husband, Dick Gilder.

The next instant he had stepped within the room and Chicago Red had pounced on his victim, the huge hand clapped tight over the young man's mouth. There came a sound of scuffling feet, and that was all. Finally the big man's voice came triumphantly.

"I've got him!"

"It's Dick!" The cry came as a wall of despair from the girl.

At the same moment Garson flashed his torch, and the light fell swiftly on young Gilder, bowed to a kneeling position before the couch, half the figure before the couch, half the figure before the couch. Close beside him, Mary looked down in wordless despair over this final disaster of the night. Garson retired a step farther before he spoke his command, so that, though he held the torch still, he, like the others was in shadow.

"Get away, Red!"

The fellow let go his grip.

Freed of that straddling embrace Dick stumbled blindly to his feet. Then, mechanically, his hand went to the lamp on the table back of the couch. When the mellow light streamed forth he uttered an ejaculation of stark amazement, for his gaze was riveted on the face of the woman he loved.

"Good God!" It was a cry of torture wrung from his soul of souls.

Mary swayed toward him a little, palpitant with fear—fear for herself, for all of them, most of all for him.

"Hush, hush!" she panted warningly. "Oh, Dick, you don't understand."

"I understand this," he said brokenly at last. "Whether you ever did it before or not, this time you have broken the law. A sudden inspiration on his own behalf came to him. For his love's sake he must seize on this opportunity given of fate to him for mastery."

"You're in my hands now. So are these men as well. Unless you do as I say, Mary, I'll kill every one of them."

"Who's this, anyhow?" Chicago Red demanded.

"I'm her husband," Dick answered. "Who are you?"

"Don't speak any of you," Mary directed. "You mustn't let him hear your voices."

Dick was exasperated by this persistent identification of herself with these criminals in his father's house. "You men back there," he cried, "I give you my word to let every one of you go free and pledge myself never to recognize one of you again, will you make Mary hear listen to me? That's all I ask. I want a few minutes to state my case. Give me that. Whether I win or lose, you men go free, and I'll forget everything that has happened here tonight." There came a muffled ruff of laughter from the big chest of Chicago Red.

"Your safety depends on me," the young man warned. "Suppose I should call for help?"

"You would only call once," Garson said grimly. His hand went to the noiseless weapon in his coat pocket.

"Once would be quite enough."

"You win," Garson said, with a half laugh. He turned to the other men and spoke a command.

"You get over by the hall door, Red, and keep your ears open every second. Give us the office if you hear anything. If we're rushed and have to make a quick getaway see that Mary has the first chance. Get that, all of you?"

Garson turned to Dick.

"Make it quick, remember."

Dick spoke at once, with a hesitancy that betrayed the depth of his emotion.

"Don't you care for me at all?" he asked wistfully.

The girl's answer was uttered with nervous eagerness, which revealed her own stress of fear.

"No, no, no," she exclaimed.

W. N. U. 1096

"I know you do, Mary," he asserted, confidently; "a little anyway. Why, Mary, can't you see that you're throwing away everything that makes life worth while? Don't you see that?"

There was no word from the girl. Her breast was moving convulsively.

"Mary, Mary," he cried. "You've got to change. Don't be so hard. Give the woman in you a chance."

The girl's form became rigid as she fought for self control.

"I am what I am," she said sharply, "I can't change. Keep your voice, now, and let's get out of this."

"You can change," Dick went on impetuously. "Mary, haven't you ever wanted the things that other women have—shelter and care and the big things of life, the things worth while? They're all ready for you now, Mary. And what about me? After all, you've married me. Now, it's up to you to give me a chance to make good. I've never amounted to much. I've never tried much. I shall, now, if you will have it so, Mary—if you'll help me. I will come out all right, I know that; so do you, Mary. Only you must help me. I need you, and you need me. Come away with me."

"No, no! I married you not because I loved you, but to repay your father the wrong he had done me. I wouldn't let myself even think of you, and then—I realized that I had spoiled your life."

The Importance of Clean Land

Address by Prof. Bedford on the Subject of Clean Land for Producing Clean Seed

There are several reasons why land intended for seed production should be as free as possible from weeds.

Weeds absorb soil moisture, an abundance of which is one of the essentials in the production of large yields of grain. This is particularly true when speaking of the western provinces, for our rainfall is somewhat limited, and we need it all.

Without sufficient soil moisture the plant will lack vigor, and the straw will be short, the ear undersized and not well filled. Insufficient moisture will also reduce the size of the kernel and lessen its weight per bushel.

The amount of water absorbed and given off by the leaves is somewhat remarkable. One authority says that one weed plant an inch in diameter at the base, and having a leaf surface of about 50 square feet, has been known to transfer through its leaves one pound four ounces of water in 24 hours. Another writer says an average mustard plant pumps from the soil about 14 ounces of water per day, and a sunflower will absorb 33 ounces in one day.

Weeds injure the grain by crowding; all living plants must have a certain amount of space for the circulation of air and moisture, and to be open to the life-giving warmth and light of the sun. When crowded, even among themselves, they cannot thrive, and if this needed space is to any extent occupied by weeds the returns from the crop must be correspondingly less.

Weeds are notoriously more resistant to drought, more rapid of growth, more sturdy of habit and more tenacious of life than the cultivated plants. They shade, drown or starve out.

Adam Dickson, as long ago as 1735, said in his treatise on agriculture: "Weeds are nourished by the same food that the grain needs, and therefore when allowed to grow along with them must rob them of part of their food. Experience convinces the farmer of the truth of this; for he finds that his crop is bad in proportion to the quantity and kinds of weeds with which his land is infested."

Some weeds serve as host plants for injurious fungi and rust, smut and mildew, and are frequently the cause of grain rotting in the stack, bin or elevator, thus seriously injuring its germinating power.

Weeds mean extra labor in cleaning the threshed grain, and in some instances it is almost impossible to make a perfect separation with the machines in common use. For instance, it is exceedingly difficult to separate wild oats from cultivated oats, or chickweed and corn from wheat. Dandelion is difficult to separate from barley, etc.

I consider it extremely dangerous to purchase seed grain from a grower whose farm is generally full of weeds, even if the particular field from which the individual sample was obtained is clean, for there is great danger of weed seeds becoming mixed through the use of implements, machinery, etc.

Two incidents in my own experience will illustrate this point. In the autumn of 1906, I visited a farm in this province, where I understood the owner made a specialty of growing seed grain. I found one small patch of about one-half acre which had been hand-picked and was fairly free of noxious weeds, but every other field on the farm was practically smothered with noxious weeds. It is needless to state that I did not purchase any seed from that farm.

Again, in 1908, wishing to purchase a large quantity of seed grain for the federal government, I inspected the growing crop on a 2,000-acre farm in the west. This farm, I understood, made a specialty of growing seed oats for the United States market. On inspecting the growing crop I found the virgin soil of every field had been broken deeply the first year, then disked and sown the same season with flax, and the crop showed the effects of this practice.

There was not an acre of the whole farm but what was contaminated with from two to five kinds of wild mustard. There was certainly a large amount of many-colored blossoms in every field, but the farm did not appeal to me as a promising source from which to procure clean seed grain, and I left without making a purchase.

Luxurious Aeroplanes

The Germans are nothing if not thorough. Their military aeroplanes are equipped with a minuteness of detail almost equal to an expensive automobile. The American Boy writes that in the dashboard before the aviator's seat are little drawers containing a flask of stimulant, a thermos bottle, chocolate, a can of condensed milk, a sponge for wiping goggles and a set of sharpened colored pencils for marking down the enemy's position, a map case and a set of maps. The aviator's seat is carefully upholstered and the exhaust pipes from the motor are brought up beneath the floor boards so that his feet may be kept warm at high altitudes.

Here is where the old man tells his children that his mother used to make him take sulphur and molasses in the spring.

Great Damage by Recent Floods in North Holland

The Awful Tragedy of Inundation Caused by Bursting of the Dykes

The towns and villages of North Holland sheltering just within the great dykes that keep the Zuider Zee at bay listen always to the storm with the thought that such an event as that which has recently happened may befall.

Fashioned of earth and sand and mud consolidated, and thus impervious to water's percolation, the dykes are reared upon a foundation of ground that has first been stamped to give it solidity. This surface is then covered with elaborate care, and the interstices being filled with clay, the whole is bound in one solid mass.

Many dykes are planted with trees, the roots of which contribute to the solidity of the structure—willows are grown especially for this purpose. In other cases a bulwark of masonry or stakes protects the dyke against the onrush of the waves, and the surface is covered with turf.

It costs Holland 14 million florins (a florin is worth 40 cents) a year to maintain the Dutch dykes, the largest of which are those at the Helder and Westcapelle.

Both in Holland and in Belgium much land has thus been won back for civilization. The marsh to be drained is first enclosed with a dyke to prevent further water coming in.

Then the water actually in the marsh is removed by water wheels of a curious and ingenious character. At one time these wheels were driven by windmills, but in this age the propelling power is steam.

As any superfluous water can be removed by the water wheels on the shortest notice, and is, in dry weather, thorough irrigation is possible, the land thus reclaimed attains a fertility which is quite remarkable.

Vast tracts of some of the richest agricultural districts in the Netherlands are under water through the bursting of the Zuider Zee dykes, and, owing to the deleterious action of the salt water on the soil, farmers in hundreds of cases are faced with grievous losses.

The greatest disaster came to Marken, best known to tourists of all Netherlands territory by reason of its picturesque houses and even more picturesque folk. At an early stage of the floods someone telephoned to the island, which was then beyond reach owing to the fearful character of the storm. Over the wire came the reply, "I am standing up to my waist in water." The island has for the greater part gone.

The dykes are dry again, but for the rest Marken has disappeared under the water, and the island has split into two parts. Many people have disappeared in the waves, among them seven children.

The fishing fleet is destroyed. Two small vessels were thrown on top of a group of houses. The houses were crushed in, and 16 people were drowned. In one house eight people hung for a long time on a beam whilst the waters rose towards them. But no help could possibly reach them, and at last they had to drop off and were drowned. In another house three girls were caught in bed by the flood. They were found afterwards lying dead hand in hand.

One house was carried away from its foundations, and a man, his wife, and two small children were drowned. When the house was last seen the mother was screaming out of a window. Then the house and the family disappeared beneath the water.

Tragic is the scene over the submerged district north of Amsterdam. No fewer than seven "polders," as the reclaimed areas are called, are under water. They form a great inland sea, with only the tops of the church towers above the dreary waste of waters, and away on the horizon is a white streak where the waves still pour over the dykes.

No estimate of the total loss in property and live stock can yet be formed. The immediate loss to the farmers is not even the worst feature. The most serious fact to remember is that it is the salt waters of the sea that now covers the Waterland, which is simply one vast agricultural estate.

One authority declares that it will be ten years before the country thus submerged by what is called in Holland the bitter water can be restored to its proper productive quality.

Wife—Well, there's one of them you will have to pay or be even more in the dark—the gas bill.

When Edward I., having planned an expedition to Flanders, found himself short of money, he seized enough wool and leather from certain merchants to make up the deficiency. A quaint tax in the time of the Commonwealth was that of the price of one meal per week, per head, to be paid into the treasury. Excise duties originated during the Civil War in 1643, being at first imposed only on "beer, cider and sherry," and income tax was first levied as a temporary war tax, by Pitt, in 1799.

"What is it?"

"I am sure that young fellow in the parlor is holding daughter's hand."

"I call that a wince manoeuvre. She can't possibly play the piano as long as he keeps that up."

Rheumatism Goes Quickly Its Virus Forever Destroyed

EVERY CASE IS CURABLE

Good-bye to Rheumatism!
Your aching joints, your stiff, sore muscles, those sleepless nights and suffering days—good-bye forever—your day is gone.
Sufferer, cheer up, and read the good news below.
"A man met me a month ago, and said, 'don't stay crippled, quit complaining, limber up.' My answer was, 'I'm rheumatic, I can't do it.' He looked me over in a pitying sort of way and told me to go to the nearest drug store for Nerviline and Ferrozone. The combination had cured him. I was convinced of his sincerity and followed his instructions. I rubbed on Nerviline three times every day—rubbed it right into my aching joints. The pain quickly lessened, and I became more limber and active. To draw the virus of the disease from my blood I took two Ferrozone Tablets with every meal. I am well to-day, not an ache, not a pain and no sign of stiffness at all."
What Nerviline can do in a case like this it can do for you too. For nearly forty years Nerviline has been recommended for Rheumatism, Lumbago and Sciatica and Lame Back. It is the one remedy that never disappoints.

Color Photography

What is hailed as an important scientific discovery is a method of photography reproducing natural colors found after eight years of experimenting by the Pineschi brothers and by Signor Santoni of Rome. These men say that they have solved in a satisfactory way a problem on which scientists have been working in many countries, and that important commercial results are to be expected from the exploitation of their discovery for the purposes of moving picture exhibitions. Complete sets are soon to be made by disinterested scientists, to determine the full scope of the discovery.

War Taxation

Lord Shaughnessy Believes Some Features of New Bill Require Elucidation

The following statement has been issued by Lord Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway: "The war has, as we all know, added, and will for some time continue to add, important financial burdens to the country. The minister of finance is compelled to resort to drastic methods of taxation for the purpose of meeting the situation.
"The measure now before the house would appear to be about the most feasible means of providing the additional revenue required, but it strikes me that it has some features requiring elucidation, and that Sir Thomas White would be inclined to amend before the bill becomes law. It may be pointed out that, if the amount paid up on the capital stock is to be determined by the share capital actually issued as fully paid, some of our Canadian companies, although making large profits just now, will have oceans of water between their net revenue and the proposed tax, while others, like the Canadian Pacific for instance, have outstanding capital stock less in amount than the money actually paid for it, without reference to appropriations from revenue for capital expenditures.
"Every good citizen and reasonable man will loyally stand back of the finance minister in the adoption of the plan of taxation that may finally be considered best in the circumstances, but in return, the people of the country will demand, probably more emphatically than ever before, that expenditures in connection with war shall be without wastefulness or extravagance, and that the minister of finance, with his colleagues, shall see that the country's money is neither pilfered nor squandered."

The Simplified Spelling Scheme
Prof. Gilbert Murray, speaking at a meeting of the Simplified Spelling Society in London said that they wanted the English language to be known—both read and spoken—as widely over the surface of the world as could be managed. One of their essential troubles at present was that the foreigner who learned English had very nearly to learn two languages—the language as it was written and the language as it was spoken.

The Simplified Spelling Society's idea of language was that it should be written as it was pronounced. Most of the languages of Europe had kept watch over the relation between their written and spoken language. Most of the languages of Europe had a fairly satisfactory system of spelling which was fundamentally phonetic.

Was ever wilder argument advanced than that in the last sentence? It has Many Qualities.—The man who possesses a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is armed against many ills. It will cure a cough, break a cold, prevent sore throat; it will reduce the swelling from a sprain, cure the most persistent sores and will speedily heal cuts and contusions. It is a medicine chest in itself, and can be got for a quarter of a dollar.

Giving a Bias Toward Agriculture
A speaker on "the desirability of giving a bias towards agriculture in the science teaching in schools" at the annual meeting of the Association of Public Schools Science Masters, in England recently, said that it was very important that the land should be put to its fullest use by means of a more intensive cultivation. After the Franco-German war it was the peasant proprietors of France who, more than any section of the community, paid the war indemnity. Last year Britain lost 1,200,000 agricultural workers. In 1851 12 per cent. of the population were connected with agriculture, and in 1911 this figure had fallen to 5 per cent.

Science should be taught on a land basis, and stress should be laid upon organic chemistry, rather than inorganic chemistry.
New Basis For Grading Wheat
After seven years of wheat milling experiments conducted in co-operation with the grain standardization service of the United States department of agriculture, Prof. E. S. Ladd, of the North Dakota experimental station, has announced that there is not much difference in the quality of the flour milled from the various grades of wheat, but that "any differences are more in favor of the lower grades." The result of his experiments, which were conducted in a mill built especially for the purpose, is expected to furnish a new basis for grading wheat or at least a new ratio of prices for the several grades.

Arm Chair Patriots Most Warlike
There is much loose talk, especially among people who never intend to go to the war, about seeing the war through to the bitter end; but amongst the men who have been to the war, who know what it means, there is only one feeling, and that is a great longing for an early and honorable peace. Our men will go on fighting so long as they are told it is necessary to do so, but one and all will welcome the day when the order to "cease firing" is given and the armies return home again. War is only a great and glorious business to be enjoyed by those who never see it.—London Herald.

Although the number of beef cattle in the United States is larger than a year ago, it is below the figure for six years ago. It will take some time to catch up with domestic requirements, but with the scarcity of labor there will be over-production in beef sooner than in dairy products.

Russians Slaughter Enemy

Germans Were Made to Advance at Any Cost

Some idea of the stubbornness of the opposition which our allies have to overcome in Volhynia may be obtained from details of the fight for Khrisak, six miles north of Chortorysk.
Having crossed the Styx and seized the village, the Russians began to entrench themselves on its southern and south-western outskirts. While this work was being hurried on, dense masses of the enemy appeared on the heights about a mile from the village, and though deluged with shrapnel and batteries hidden in depressions in the ground, streamed down into the plain.
Traversing two-thirds of the distance which separated them from the Russians, they vanished in a gully where they recovered breath and consolidated their depleted ranks.

As soon as they emerged from this cover they were met by a withering fire from the Russian machine guns and rifles, which swept them off their feet in sheaves, and sent the remnants flying back to the shelter of the gully.

Nevertheless, four further attempts were made to drive them on in this way, and it was only when the Russians, following up the repulse of a fifth attack with a bayonet charge, cleared out the gully that the Germans gave up their attempts to regain the lost position.

Will Prevent Relief Fund Frauds

It is officially announced that in order to secure better co-ordination of appeals in behalf of the Belgians and to prevent waste of public generosity, effort, and the misapplication of funds obtained in response to such appeals, the Belgian and British governments have decided to make arrangements giving official recognition only to appeals approved by the two governments.

Official recognition will be given in the form of a certificate issued by the local government board. This certificate will be issued only after the Belgian government has been consulted. The public, therefore, are warned not to subscribe to appeals in behalf of the Belgians not bearing the official certificate.

Plenty Willing to do the Yelling

Among the factors that may be regarded as deterring the young men of Canada from enlistment in the national habit of taking their sport by proxy. They go and sit on the bleachers at football, baseball, lacrosse or hockey, but they do not get into the game themselves. The result is the cultivation of the vicarious habit of letting other people do things that ought to be done. The real sporting men have done splendidly in the way of enlistment. Scarcely a battalion or a battery but numbers among its members some of the well known athletes of the respective districts where the corps belong.—Toronto World.

WELCOME

At last, a full grown lady.
Sweet spring is in the land
With garlands in her tresses
And blossoms in her hand
And with a disposition
That any one could stand.

Her favors wide she scatters
Among the rich and poor.
She lightens up the landscape.
The moon and the moon
And makes contentment linger,
Of that you may be sure.

New breath she gives the nostrils,
New life she scatters far.
The sick and the downhearted
All worship at her star.
And dull, complaining mortals
Get what they need—a jar.

The trees put on their garments
Of bright and festive hue,
The buds begin to open
And take a sip of dew.
Green is the reigning color,
And not a soul is blue.

Oh, spring, you are a charmer
If ever there was one!
We like your dash of color,
We like your wealth of sun,
And we can only wish you
A long, successful run.

"Good Advice"

Lord Bryce gives good advice to his countrymen. He warns them against the spirit of reprisal. It is human to wish to beat an enemy at his own game. But to answer brutality is to make war more brutish. The allies cannot afford thus to alienate the sympathy which their humane conduct has gained for them.—Philadelphia Ledger.

High Cost of Living

Greater Attention to Mixed Farming and Increased Production Will Help to Remedy Conditions

An important cause of the high cost of living has been the general demand for improvement in living conditions, arising through the spread of education, says the report of the high cost of living commission, tabled in the commons by Hon. T. W. Crothers.

"The advance of prices in Canada," the report continues, "has been stimulated greatly by the enormous expenditure of railways and public works, and by large investments incidental to the development of a young country such as Canada."
After pointing to the manifold forms of extravagance abroad in the land, the report points out that another cause is in the household. "But," the report says, "the main factor in enhancing the cost of commodities is the withdrawal of the population from the land, which has decreased the proportion of people engaged in food production."

The commission look for improvement through land settlement, greater attention to mixed farming, increased production, with standardization of quality in farm products, together with co-operation in distribution. Extension of the parcel post system, and the building of good roads would reduce the cost of producing the staple commodities of the farm.

The growing demand, especially west of the lakes, for cheaper and more accessible "working capital," is pointed out. This would assist farmers to develop their farms and enable them to supplement the growing of cereals by the production of meats and dairy products.

The commissioners also suggest that the teaching in the public schools should be supplemented by vocational training.

Germany and Inventions

There are aspects of the German banking system which are thoroughly unsound but there is one direction in which it is a century in advance of us. It is the instrument of commerce. A man with an idea in Germany has only to take it to the bank to have it examined and, if it is sound, financially backed. This accessibility of money to ideas has led to many an English invention being exploited by German money to the enormous gain of that country. The position has grown even worse with the modern tendency in this country to the amalgamation of the banks. This must be radically changed if we are to fight Germany successfully in the future with superior enterprise and not inferior knowledge.—London Daily News.

Wrinkles are a CONFESSION

Advancing years are first realized by the change that becomes noticeable in the complexion. If you pay attention to the first, almost imperceptible, lines, how easy it is to avoid the unsightly wrinkles that surely follow. Wrinkles are a confession to Father Time. The skin must be kept firm and smooth by proper attention and treatment.

"UBT" is a skin food and wrinkle chaser. It builds up firm, elastic tissues, removes wrinkles, fills out depressions, prevents dryness of skin caused by excessive winds, and restores to your complexion that fine appearance of freshness and youth.

"UBT" is put up in handsome opal bottles, and until the Drug Stores in Canada are completely stocked, we are filling mail orders. Accept no substitute.

Send $6 today for that bottle, sufficient for six weeks' use. We pay postage to any address in Canada.

Music and War-time

Since the days when Taillefer, the minstrel, led the hosts of Normans to victory in the battle of Hastings, history has not furnished us with a more dramatic picture. The tall singer, clad in his coat of mail, sat upon his prancing war horse, and tossed and caught his great sword as he rode at the head of the invading army. And he sang, how he must have sung! And the whole army behind him joined in the song until the very hills seemed to shake to the mighty volume of sound. Before then and since then music has been as necessary a part of warfare almost as the sword—music, or its counterpart, the inspiring, piercing, overwhelming battle cry.—Victoria Colonist.

Population of U.S. Increasing

Census bureau experts estimate that the population of the United States on Jan. 1 last was 101,298,315, and that by July 1 it would be 102,017,302. On July 1 last year they figured the population at 100,359,215. Western States have led in growth, Washington heading the list with Oklahoma, Nevada, North Dakota and New Mexico following in the order named. The bureau's estimates are based on the rate of increase between the 1900 and 1910 censuses.

The Arabs' Faith In The British

"Bik-kilmat El-Indleez!" "By the word of the British, what I say is true."

One of the greatest assets Britain and her allies has in the Near East is the unbounded faith and confidence the Arabs have in the word of a Briton, declared Rev. Canon Gould, in the course of an address on Syria and Arabia as Factors in the Scheme of Germany. Canon Gould, who for thirteen years was a resident of Syria, Arabia and Palestine, had abundant opportunity to study the natives of those countries and was consequently able to speak with authority on the part.
"The Arab is the most innocent, most convincing, most persistent, plausible, and incurable liar on the face of the globe," said the Canon. "But once he puts his foot on the smallest rock of truth he says, 'By the British word, what I say is true!' It is one of the most magnificent tributes to British rule that have ever been uttered. The story of Britain's entry into the war in defence of her given word has been told in very Arab's tent from Morocco to Bagdad itself."

Canon Gould declared that whatever might happen on the frontiers of Egypt, the frontiers of India were safe for the present. He said that the railroad that had been built ostensibly to carry pilgrims to the Mohammedan cities of Mecca and Medina was undoubtedly built for strategic purposes under the authority of the minister of marine at Constantinople. The road was constructed by a German engineer. Dealing with Hilaire Belloc's recent statement that a double tracked railway had been completed as far as Beesheba, Rev. Canon Gould stated that he doubted this very much. At the commencement of the war there was not a single mile of double track railroad in Turkey in Asia, and difficulties in the way of construction and transportation of material, would make it almost impossible to build the line as far as Belloc says it has been built.

Referring to the same writer's statement that a serious effort could not be made there without a third of a million men, Canon Gould said that for this year at least, no matter how much the Turks were aided by the German, they could not hope to employ more than 60,000 men there. He pointed out that at the close of April, the whole country became a barren and sunbaked wilderness.

He declared that it was vital that Britain should maintain her status in Arabia and Mesopotamia. The Arabs were influenced by military demonstrations more than anything else. Nothing could be more suicidal or insane than to send a small force that would be in danger of being surrounded or cut up.
"I have read every proclamation issued by the Kaiser," continued Canon Gould. "Every one of them can be translated into the Arabic language and pose as the utterances of an orthodox Mohammedan leader."

He pointed out that the Sultan posed as the protector of the sacred cities of the Mohammedans, and if the Turks ever lost that hold on the Mohammedans, the German effort in the Near East would fail.

Rev. Canon Gould declared that if the truth were known, Constantinople is nearer starvation than any other large city affected by the conflict. This was largely due to their extermination of the Armenians, who were the main producers. In this way the murders were reacting on the murderers. The entry of Britain in the war had upset all Germany's plans to drill and munition the armies of Turkey, to complete the railroads from Constantinople to the Persian and Egyptian borders, and to transform the area from Berlin to Bagdad from a potential into an actual economic unit.—Toronto Star.

They Soothe Excited Nerves.

Nervous affections are usually attributable to defective digestion, as the stomach dominates the nerve control, course of Pancreatic and Vegetable Pills will still all disturbances of this character, and by restoring the stomach to normal action relieve the nerves from irritation. There is no sedative like them and in the correction of irregularities of the digestive processes, no preparation has done so effective work, as can be testified to by thousands.

TO SAVE EYES

Is the Object of This Free Prescription—Try It If Your Eyes Give You Trouble.

Thousands of people suffer from eye troubles because they do not know what to do. They know some good home remedies for every other minor ailment, but none for their eye troubles. They neglect their eyes, because the trouble is not sufficient to drive them to an eye specialist, who would, anyway, charge them a heavy fee. As a last resort they go to an optician or to the five and ten-cent store, and oftentimes get glasses that they do not need, or which, after being used a few months, do their eyes more injury than good. Here is a simple prescription that every one should use: 5 grains Bou-diplo, 2 ounces water. Use three or four times a day to bathe the eyes. This prescription and the simple Optima system keeps the eyes clear, sharpens the vision and quickly overcomes inflammation and irritation; weak, watery, overworked, tired eyes and other similar troubles are greatly benefited and oftentimes cured by its use. Many reports show that wearers of glasses have discarded them after a few weeks' use. It is good for the eyes, and contains no ingredient which would injure the most sensitive eyes of an infant or the aged. Your own druggist can fill this prescription, or the Valmas Drug Co. of Toronto will fill it for you. Try it, and know for once what real eye comfort is.

WHAT DOES YOUR MIRROR TELL YOU?

Your mirror has a message for you. Is it one of health and good cheer? Or do you read there signs of disease and a warning to take action?

Is your complexion pale and sallow? Lips, gums and eyelids without color? Is there puffiness under the eyes?

These are indications of anaemia or poor quality of blood. Other symptoms are shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, faintness and dizziness, swelling of the ankles, indigestion and irritable temper, ringing in the ears and dimness of vision.

The blood is watery. It is lacking in the red corpuscles which supply nutrition to the nervous system and go to build up the cells and tissues of the body. You need just such help as is best supplied by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. In this food cure you get in condensed and easily assimilated form the ingredients from which good, rich, red blood is formed. Gradually and naturally the weak, listless body is restored and the vital organs resume their various functions.

Since the Nerve Food cures by the building-up process, you must expect to keep up the treatment for some little time. The thoroughness of the cure will more than reward you for your perseverance, and in the meantime your mirror will tell you of improving health and the return of color to the cheeks.

THURSDAY, APRIL 20, 1916

The Provincial Government has set apart Friday, June 30th, as the real Clean-Up day. There may be a few back yards left for the Temperance and Moral Reform League to clean up after that, remarks an exchange.

Most of the neighboring towns are having a spring clean up day. A little time, a little thought, a little paint and a little work would make a marvellous change in the appearance of our town.

"One Canadian soldier fighting in France has been found to have no less than five wives in this country", says the Simcoe Reformer. But think how this fellow would fight to defend his hearths and homes, remarks the Hamilton Spectator. Yes, and think of when he comes marching home how his five ma-in-laws will welcome him.

A week ago the Bassano Mail claimed that burg the centre of the baseball hemisphere, but in the last issue remarks: "Nobody around here is interested in baseball except the Gem boys, and they attended the advertised meeting Saturday night in full regalia—war paint and baseball bats included." Rather tough on any so weighty as Stone. Toss 'em a few more swift rocks—maybe they'll get into league yet.

Kersmith & Kickshaw deal in wax, Chinese egg and carpet tacks. They are good sports in every way, they cough up money every day to make the town a better town in which to live and push your face. They hire a dozen clerks or more, who wait on patrons in the store. Our cross roads burg they could upbuild and see it with glad people filled, and to that end they blow their seeds like truly patriotic lads. But when of eggs we need a few, we send away to Timbucktoo, and when a carpet tack we wish, it shipped from Ypsilanti, Mich. Each has a notion in his dome that things are best away from home, and so we order hods and hats, and humming birds and Maltese cats from strangers in some town remote, who would not know us from a boat. We ship away our hard earned kale, and get our fourth rate junk by mail. Say, are we seers or are we fools? Those strangers don't support our schools, or keep the peeler on the beat, or help to pave Commercial street. If our old berg were blown away, they would not care a bail of hay. Kersmith & Kickshaw ought to get the local trade already yet.

Indications Now Very Promising

Reports from a wide area of agricultural districts of Alberta published in the Calgary Herald indicate that there will be at least eighty per cent of last year's crop area under cultivation again this season. In view of the facts this is a really fine showing. Given a reasonably good season Alberta should again have a bumper harvest, though not as large as a year ago.

The reports indicate a considerable amount of sowing on stubble, which is not good farming, but probably excusable this year more than in other. That the farmers are not seriously practising this hit-or-miss method of farming is made clear in the fact that reports show a very large area will this year be summer fallowed, which is evidence of good farming.

Another interesting fact shown by the reports is that in steadily increasing number the farmers are providing storage for their grain on the farm instead of being forced to get to the elevators or leave it out in the open. This is another evidence of good farming and means much for the future success of agriculture in this province. Still another thing in the reports to cause satisfaction and encouragement is the apparent increase in the number of districts engaged in livestock ventures more or less extended.

Generally speaking, the situation as disclosed by the reports is most encouraging. The farmers are on the job and with a will and a heart that means success. Given the right sort of a season, and thus far all signs seem to point in the right direction for this, there is promise that the railways will have their hands full again next fall handling the Alberta harvest.

Buy an Irrigated Farm From The CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY BECAUSE:

Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rainfall, and insures good crops, not occasionally, but every year.

Irrigation makes possible the successful culture of alfalfa, the king of fodders, which insures best returns in dairying and mixed farming.

Irrigation means intensive farming and close settlement, with all the advantages of a densely populated agricultural community.

Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation Block is no longer an experiment, the year 1914 having absolutely demonstrated its success wherever intelligently applied.

You can buy irrigated land from the Canadian Pacific Railway at prices ranging from $35 to $75 per acre, with twenty years to pay and the privilege of a loan of $2,000.00 for improvements (6% interest); no principal payment at end of first or second years and no water rental for first year. Assistance is also given in supplying stock in approved instances.

This is the most liberal offer of irrigated farm land on record. Get full particulars from:

Insect Pests In Canada

Means For Controlling Insect Pests Throughout Dominion

In the report of the Dominion entomologist for the year ending March 31st, 1914, which has just been published, an account is given of the activities of the Entomological branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, in the matter of controlling insect pests throughout Canada and all who are interested in this subject will be repaid by a perusal of this record of a year's work. The department now maintains nine field laboratories in different parts of the Dominion at which investigations on various insect pests are carried on. This line of work constitutes the chief aspect of the work of the branch. A large amount of work is necessitated by the administration of the Insect and Pest Regulations of the Dominion Insect and Pest Act, involving the inspection and fumigation of trees and plants entering Canada. Perhaps one of the most interesting of the activities of the branch is the work carried on against the Brown-tail Moth in Eastern Canada particularly, the importation and establishment of the parasites of this insect and the Gypsy Moth. A map is given showing the places in Canada where the Moths have been distributed by the department.

Other branches of work covered by the report are investigations on insects affecting cereals and other field crops, including an account of the notorious army-worm outbreak in 1913; insects affecting fruit crops, as the result of which investigation work of great practical value has ensued; insects affecting forest and shade trees in which an account of the investigations of Stanley Park, Vancouver, which has been so seriously affected by frost insects is given; insects affecting domestic animals and man and insects affecting garden and greenhouse. The report is a record of marked progress in a branch of the work of the department of agriculture which not only affects agriculture, but also forestry and public health. Copies of this report may be had free on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and requests for the report may be mailed free. All inquiries regarding insect pests should be addressed to the Dominion Entomologist, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and no postage is required on such letters.

A Real Asthma Relief. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has never been advertised by extravagant statements. Its claims are conservative indeed, when judged by the cures which it performs. Use Glass Bottom Boats

Dr. M. S. Inglis, a Canadian army surgeon, who arrived on the Anchor Line Cameronia from Liverpool, declared that he had knowledge of the capture in British nets of seventeen German submarines.

Doctor Inglis told how the crew of one of them had been found shot to death after it had been towed ashore. Doctor Inglis said he had been allowed to descend into the submarine and had seen the bodies. "To save them from death by suffocation," he said, "the admiral had shot all his men and then himself apparently."

Doctor Inglis added that the British are now making use of glass bottom boats with more or less success in scouting for submarines in conjunction with a hydroplane fleet. The glass used, he said, gives a clear view of the water to a depth of fifty or sixty feet.

We read that King George has appointed the Emperor Nicholas a field marshal in the British army. Which reminds us of a little story.

"Donald," said an officer of the Scots Greys, some years ago, "have you heard that the Czar of Russia has been appointed Colonel of our regiment?"

"Indeed, sir, is that so?" said Donald. "It's a very nice thing for him." Then he paused and scratched his head, while a puzzled expression came over his face. "Beg pardon, sir," he added, "but will he be able to keep bath jobs?"—Boston Transcript.

The British Navy

More Than Million Men in the Different Branches of Naval Work

The magnitude of the work going on in the navy is shown in a letter from the admiralty to Sir Gilbert Parker, answering his enquiry in the house of commons on the number of people engaged in all branches of the navy and naval work.

The letter states that the navy proper had 145,000 officers and men when the war broke out, which number has now increased to 329,000 with the authority granted for a further increase to 500,000 officers and men, besides 67,000 naval reserves. There are also 28,000 men engaged in work at royal dockyards and other naval establishments, and several times that number on admiralty work under contract and sub-contract.

Besides these, the letter specifies men engaged in getting coal or the fleet, dockyard workers and civilian crews of coasters, oiners, mine sweepers, supply ships, etc., and in addition men and women engaged in making clothing and preparing food for the fleet.

Thomas J. McNamara, financial secretary of the admiralty, adds:

"If asked to put the matter in a sentence, I would say that for every man in the navy, of which there are something like 300,000, there are certainly two persons and possibly even three at work on ship construction, repairing and contributing to the general efficiency and fighting ability of the fleet."

An aggregate of more than one million persons engaged in various branches of naval work is thus shown.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED PAIN IN HIS BACK

Mr. Jas. A. Bryce Tells Why He Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to All Who Suffer From Kidney Disease.

Paisley, Ont.—(Special).—"I can highly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from pain in the back," says Mr. Jas. A. Bryce, well known and highly respected in this neighborhood. "I had been troubled with a pain in my back for about a year.

"Reading the self-examination page in Dodd's Almanac led me to believe that my trouble came from my kidneys so I went and got a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Before they were done I was feeling as well as ever. "Dodd's Kidney Pills were certainly a great boon to me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. By putting them in condition to do their proper work they accomplish the cures so regularly reported. Healthy kidneys make pure blood and the man or woman who has pure blood coursing through their veins can laugh at nine-tenths of the ills of life.

Anti-German League

Seeks to Enroll 1,000,000 Members and Get Out Secret Plans

Destruction of every German influence in Great Britain, internment of all alien enemies, and capture of all German secrets are aimed at by the Anti-German League. This organization is increasing in strength daily, and has the backing of influential business concerns in Britain. It is attempting to gain a million members.

The objects of the league follow:

1. To enroll 1,000,000 members who will take the Anti-German pledge.
2. To amend the law relating to alien immigration and the naturalization of Germans as British subjects.
3. To influence legislation for a protective and, if necessary, prohibitive tariff on all German and Austrian-made goods.
4. To investigate German patents, processes and monopolies with a view to imparting knowledge and information to British traders, manufacturers, and others who desire to work same.
5. To negotiate financial and other assistance for British manufacturers who will undertake the production of goods hitherto made in Germany and Austria.
6. To assist in returning to parliament any candidates, irrespective of party, who will pledge themselves to support the objects of the league, and generally to arrange a series of lectures in all the great towns and cities throughout the country for the purpose of obtaining public support and approval.

Big U.S. Aeroplane

Rumored That a Monster Machine Will Soon be Put to Use

An American built aeroplane soon to be used in the war, which will carry a 9-centimetre gun and which will be six times as large as the new German Fokker monoplanes, was described by G. Douglas Wardrop, editor of the Aerial Age, in an address to the cadets and instructors of the United States Military Academy.

After stating that the aerial equipment of the United States army was in every way inadequate, Mr. Wardrop said: "We have heard very much of late concerning the Fokker monoplanes, the machine that spirals to a tremendous altitude and then darts directly down upon its opponent, meantime showering a hail of deadly bullets upon its adversary."

"We in this country are quietly preparing a monster machine that will represent the conquest of even the latest German achievement. This aeroplane will be six times larger than any yet tried. It can carry sufficient gasoline to give a speed of seventy-five miles an hour and a cruising range of more than 300 miles. The horsepower consists of seven motors, six of 160 horsepower each and one of 40 horsepower. With about eight passengers, this machine has a further capacity for carrying 700 gallons of gasoline, sixty gallons of oil and a useful load of 3,000 pounds. By decreasing the 3,000 pound cargo the number of passengers can be approximately increased to thirty. A total weight of 21,000 pounds can be carried through the air. The machine is built with three planes, spreading 153 feet. The length is sixty-eight feet.

"This will be the type of bombardment aeroplane that will be used on German ports in the early spring. Many of the type are now under construction."

"A new gun which gives no recoil will be used in this monster plane. It consists of a tube in which two shots are simultaneously discharged by a single explosion. One shot, the deadly steel shell, speeds down toward the enemy; a second, which is made of sand, is discharged backward. As a result there is no recoil from the gun. This new gun will throw a shell nine centimetres in diameter."

Miller's Worm Powders do not need the after-help of castor oil or any purgative to complete their thoroughness, because they are thorough in themselves. One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, and the worm trouble will be making the stomach and bowels untenable to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

Women For Farm Work

In an endeavor to overcome the difficulty caused by the shortage of men for farm work, the government has decided, says the London Daily News, to launch a campaign to recruit women for this work. The recruiting will be along the popular lines which has had such success in getting men for the army. It is proposed that an armlet be issued to women willing to undertake farm work, and that they also be entitled to wear a special uniform. Every village in the country will be canvassed by committees of women, and it is hoped by the canvass to raise a body of 400,000 women who are ready to engage in agricultural work.

Enjoys Seeing Them Shiver

A French hospital nurse who was shut up at Valenciennes on August 25, 1914, and who managed to escape at the end of last September, gives some plain facts of the behavior of German troops there.

One day Major Kintzel announced his intention of having an execution of French prisoners. The nurse ventured to ask him: "Do you enjoy sentencing all these people to death?" "Well, I do enjoy seeing these men and women shivering and shaking before me and turning green in the face when I tell them I am going to have them shot."

Give Us Liberty

Strong Exception Taken to Premises of the Personal Liberty League

Give us liberty to sell booze which we know poisonous soldiers and thus helps the Germans. That is the cry of the advertisements of the Personal Liberty League in many newspapers at the present time. They don't seem to care for the liberty for which our fathers paid so dearly and which our soldiers are defending with their lives in the trenches. They are willing to risk that liberty to retain the liberty to sell booze. They don't want liberty for Canada. It is liberty for themselves to sell stuff that makes drunkards, paupers, criminals and insane. That is the liberty they want.

To attain that end they stoop to any falsehood. I have just been reading one of their advertisements which is a base attempt by cleverly worded falsehoods, to defeat prohibition, to take away the liberty of our sons and make them the slaves of the barroom. They want to take away our liberty to be free from drunkenness, to have our sons sober, to have fewer insane, to have lower taxes, to have prosperity instead of poverty, to have a little crime as they have in Prince Edward Island and other prohibition states, to share in the peace and prosperity that has come already to Alberta and Saskatchewan.

They say that prohibitionists want to dictate what you shall drink. That is simply untrue. Prohibition does not say you shall not drink, but it does say you shall not sell drink. Every family is allowed a reasonable quantity for their own use. That is the true of every prohibition state in the union. Prohibition puts an end to the treating system and makes it more difficult to get drunk, but those who want it for their own use have liberty to get it. But that does not suit the Personal Liberty League, for it gives people the liberty to drink or to leave it alone. They know well that the treating system destroys the liberty of a very large number and makes them the slaves of drink.

They would give our sons the liberty of the jail, the asylum and the potter's field. They would give our daughters the liberty of the brothel, our children the liberty of the poor house, and our women the liberty to go out washing. They have been giving us that kind of liberty long enough. It is time for a change.—H. Arnott, M.B., M.C.P.S.

HEAT FLASHES, DIZZY, NERVOUS

Mrs. Wynn Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her During Change of Life.

Richmond, Va.—"After taking seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new woman. I always had a headache during the change of life and was also troubled with other bad feelings common at that time—dizzy spells, nervous feelings and heat flashes. Now I am in better health than I ever was and recommend your remedies to all my friends."—Mrs. LENA WYNN, 2812 E. O Street, Richmond, Va.

While Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, the annoying symptoms which accompany it may be controlled, and normal health restored by the timely use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such warning symptoms are a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness.

For these abnormal conditions do not fail to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Potato Seed is Rare

Is Now Said to be So Scarce That It is Worth its Weight in Gold

Luther Burbank stated some time ago that potatoes have been grown so long from cuttings, that people are getting out of the habit of producing seed for breeding purposes. Seed for breeding purposes is in great demand and is worth $6.00 a bushel, according to some authorities. A bushel of potato seed is a difficult matter to find.

Edward Bigelow, an authority on such matters, writes in "The Guide to Nature" for January, giving an interesting account of the great difficulty experienced in securing seed for potatoes. Much of the article is reprinted in the current issue of the Literary Digest.

Mr. Bigelow recalled that 13 years ago he attended a lecture in an agricultural college when the professor lecturing stated that potato seed was very scarce. Mr. Bigelow refused to believe it and tried to find the seed-ball to prove the professor wrong.

He and his friends could find no seed in Connecticut, and since then it has been found that potato seed is as scarce and little can be had anywhere.

William Stuart, horticulturist of the United States, bureau of plant industry, writes that the reason that more seed balls are not developed is that most potato plants do not produce pollen capable of germination. Such pollen develops best in northern climates and consequently the seed ball of potatoes are found most frequently in Maine, Northern Michigan and Wisconsin.

These sheep dogs are of five different breeds, "Malinois," "Gronendael," "Bar Hound," "Blair" and "Berger Almond" of which the last named is said to be the least intelligent. The original idea was that the dogs should be employed only in ambulance work, but owing to their great intelligence it was found possible to use them for taking back messages from advanced parties to the rear.

The system of training is said to be rather complicated and has to be begun when the dogs are still very young. The first thing, of course, that they have to learn is implicit obedience, and after that it is a question of training them not to fear gun fire, and to bring back any article. When once they are trained these dogs show themselves absolutely fearless under the heaviest fire, and so far from recoiling from a shell burst, they usually run forward and bark furiously at it. In the circumstances, therefore, their casualty list of five wounded may be regarded as fairly light.

When employed on ambulance work the dogs perform much the same duties as those of St. Bernards. They are sent out to scour the ground, and when they have found a wounded man they bring some article of his apparel. A doctor and two orderlies are then detailed to

EASTER 1916

Only twice in One Hundred Years has Easter been as late as this year. This has not interfered with our Spring showing of Ladies Easter Waists or Neckwear

Just opened up a beautiful range of these goods direct from fashion centres. No finer display to be found in city stores than we are now showing, and our prices are 25 per cent lower than city figures.

New Arrivals in our Silk Department comprise some very beautiful touches in the latest shades, including the very new Poplins, Duchesses, Mouselines in plaids and plain shades, Taffetas, Pongees and Japs.

Spring Hosiery in Great Profusion.

Notwithstanding the fact that all Hosiery and Woolen Manufacturers have hitched their factories to the moon and prices have gone with them, we bought early and are showing some splendid values in Ladies, Misses and Children's Hosiery.

Our Children's Ready-to-Wear

Department is creating a sensation. Dresses, Coats, Etc., are very fine. Children's Spring Headwear now showing, with Nursery Shoes (Our Kiddies Line). These look very swaggar.

Expresses Gratitude

To the friends who came to us in our hour of trouble and contributed all that human kindness could suggest, to help and comfort, we return our most heartfelt gratitude and although such devoted friendship cannot remove the sad memories that linger around our vacant chair, it brings into view the brightest side of humanity, and throws the pure light of unselfishness into a darkened home. May the day be far distant when those friends who gathered around us will need similar attention, but when the time comes may they receive the same full measure of generous aid and tender sympathy they brought to our home when death was an inmate there.

C. J. GAUDAUR.

Saturday afternoon twenty-two autos were counted at one time on Crowfoot Street within two blocks. Quite a busy auto town this. With all these running about the authorities should see that the laws are strictly enforced before some serious accident occurs. So far Gleichen has been singularly fortunate in this respect.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

How about the Stampede?

To-morrow is Good Friday and a public holiday.

Does any one not sorry you did not take $50 for the boy?

Don't be bashful when you have news. Send it to the CALL.

What about that suit you want? Consult the Hicks Trading Co.

You're still watching what C. R. Hyndman is doing at the Crown Lumber Co. He's worth watching.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morton are rejoicing in the arrival of another baby girl at their home last Friday, April 14th.

A branch money order of the Dominion Express Co. is to be opened shortly in Dr. Farquharson's drug store.

Two English physicians are experimenting with a parasite with which they hope to exterminate the flies of their country within a few years.

It is said fifty per cent of the Calgary soldiers are now out seeding. Of course, the farmers will not allow any wild oats on their property.

The authorities would not allow the soldiers their uniforms to help out the farmers during seeding. Don't worry, boys. We like you just as you are, and, perchance, the seed you sow will help fill up your uniforms in the trenches.

A few changes have recently taken place in the local staff at the C. P. R. station. R. E. Allison the night operator has been transferred to Shepard and is relieved by H. T. McDonald from Webb, Sask. Cecil Vigar on relief of absence is relieved by A. R. Tudhope of Calgary. Jas O'Connor a new man from Carstairs has recently been added to the staff.

You may have something which you do not want and which somebody else does want. Insert a short ad in the CALL for one issue or three issues and see what good results you will get. Everything goes from a first class horse to a pair of chickens, etc. Someone is inquiring every day for what you have for sale, and the small fee for the advertisement is nothing compared to the value to you of the sale. Do it now. Others have tried it and found it profitable, why not you?

Two autos—a Maxwell and a Tin Lizzy—carried a bunch of enthusiastic brethren of the Gleichen Masonic Lodge to Strathmore on Monday night of this week and from reports had the time of their life. They have already intimated their intention of making another visit to Strathmore on May 15th, on which date Strathmore's Masonic Lodge will be dedicating, when S. Y. Taylor, grand master for the Province, Rev. Dr. Kirby, W.F.W. Lent, Archie McKillop and other leading Masonic lights from Calgary will be present and deliver addresses.

All records for hog prices at Calgary have been broken several times in recent months, and prices are still going up. On Tuesday of last week $10.65 per hundred pounds was paid for hogs, live weight, at the Calgary yards. Calgary prices have been running higher than Chicago, for the reason that the animals, to a large extent, are bought at Calgary for shipment to Pacific coast cities, both in Canada and the United States, and as Calgary is much nearer the point of consumption than is Chicago, the price is more favorable to the Alberta producer. Western Canada, with its big crops, cheap land, and climate free from disease, is the great opportunity for the hog raiser.
